The territorial law of Arizona requires that all locations and registrations of mines and mineral deposits made in any of the mining districts of the territory shall be filed with the county recorder for record within ninety days after the same shall have been located. The law has been interpreted to exclude the first day—the day of location—and include the last day. Thus a claim located at any hour on January first after midnight December 31st, would count January 2 as the first day, January 3 2nd day, etc. The ninety days would therefore expire April 2nd at midnight, in any year excepting leap year.

An inventory and appraisal of the property belonging to the estate of the late W. O. O'Neill (Buckey) was filed in the probate court yesterday in Yavapai county. The appraisal of the estate aggregates a value of $71,250. The Journal-Miner says that the two principal items are what are known as the O'Neill building in Phoenix, which with the lot is valued at $40,000, and the Washington street property there valued at $15,000. An interest in the J. B. Bone Hardware company of Phoenix, the H. M. McNeil Printing company, and land at Buckeye are among other items belonging to the estate.

When his case was called yesterday James failed to appear and his bail was declared forfeited.

In the course of some of his remarks at the recent session of the Institute of Mining Engineers in San Francisco, Prof. James Douglas referred to a probability that at an early day electricity as a motor would be largely introduced into the working of the mines of the Copper Queen company. It would be well for some of our working men to familiarize themselves, theoretically at least, with the working of electric machinery in advance.

"I am often too busy to read your paper through," writes a Sacramento, Cal., subscriber, "but I always read the advertisements. Without derogating from the value of the reading articles and items, I think the items are very interesting. Recently I wanted to buy about $400 worth of machinery and upon looking through your paper found advertised just what I wanted"—Mining Press.

The OMA is able to state authoritatively that the annual overhauling and necessary repairing of the works of the Copper Queen Co., and the consequent temporary idleness of a portion of the employees of the company, will doubtless not occur before the usual time, i. e.: about the latter part of December. The impression that it would take place sooner seems to have become quite general.
